TO ATTEND DAIRY EXPOSITION

Many of Rush County Are Planning to go to National Event

Many farmers and business men of Rush county are planning to attend the National Dairy Exposition, which this year comes to Indiana for the first time, at Indianapolis, October 10 to 17, according to H. D. Van Matre, county agricultural agent.

This Exposition affords an opportunity for every one interested in agricultural development to observe the finest dairy cattle in America and latest types of farm and factory machinery and to learn the best methods for making farming more profitable. A one and one-half fare rate to the Exposition is granted by all railroads for the round trip on the certificate plan.

DOCTOR DESCRIBES GIRL'S CONDITION

That at the time Miss Oberholtzer made the statement she was not at the point of death. It was pointed out that a blood transfusion was made in the hope of saving her life five days after she signed the "death bed statement."

That a dying statement is only admissible in homicide cases and that her statement was a declaration of suicide and things she claimed occurred before and after she took poison with suicidal intent.

The three men are jointly indicted on a murder charge for the death of the girl from poison taken after an alleged abduction and assault by Stephenson.

Prosecutor Remy Tuesday attempted to get the statement in evidence during cross examination of Asa Smith, attorney for the Oberholtzer family who drew up the statement.

Defense attorneys strenuously objected to the prosecution's move asserting there was no evidence to prove that the girl's declaration constituted a dying statement.

Ira Holmes, one of the attorneys for the three accused men, indicated an effort would be made to bring out through questioning of Dr. John Kingsbury, the girl's physician, that she was not in a dying condition at the time the statement was read to her and signed.

Three other physicians were questioned by the defense late yesterday to establish the girl's condition and the cause of her death.

Dr. John A. MacDonald testified that Miss Oberholtzer was in a semi-delirious condition when he visited her.

It is the contention of the defense that the dying statement of the girl is incompetent evidence because of her condition when it was prepared.

Dr. John Warvel and Dr. H. G. Wertz testified that the autopsy showed sufficient poison in Miss Oberholtzer's body to cause death.

They said bruises on her body which she claimed were inflicted by Stephenson during the alleged attack were not serious enough to have terminated fatally.

Eph Inman, chief defense attorney, sprang a sensation in quizzing Asa Smith. He asked Smith whether he did not prepare a complaint against Stephenson and offer to set tle for $100,000 and later for $10,000.

Instantly Remy was on his feet objecting to the question. After bitter argument on the point the state's objection was sustained.

Under questioning by Inman, Smith said the death statement was drawn up from parts of Miss Oberholtzer's story related by her at different times.

He said the completed statement was read to her, corrected to conform to changes she suggested, and that she then signed it.

Stephenson and his two aides listened attentively to the first day's proceedings in their fight for freedom on bond. They appeared in high spirits and Stephenson smiled broadly at acquaintances in the court room.

At the table of the prosecuting attorney sat Mr. and Mrs. George Oberholtzer, parents of the dead girl, and her brother, Marshall Oberholtzer.

Mrs. Oberholtzer was dressed in black and sobbed at mention of her daughter's name during the testimony.

office and the place from which its almost twelve thousands posts located all over the length and breadth of the land shall be directed in their efforts to aid the community, state and nation.

The Legion building occupies the northwest corner of the Memorial plaza, which when completed will cover five city blocks.

The building is of limestone construction and the feature room is the national executive committee room, arranged in the form of a senate chamber with a raised rostrum for the national commander's chair.

Desks and chairs of the national committeemen bear the seal of each state, territory and foreign country represented.

Four floors of glistening Bedford limestone, arranged in the solidity of Grecian architectural style, give the building an exterior appearance of durability and stability together with an air of simplicity.

Great Vocal Organization Coming To Rush County Chautauqua Aug. 16.

CHICAGO MIXED QUARTET

The Chicago Mixed Quartet, which will be at the annual Rush county chautauqua on the closing day, Sunday, August 16, is a vocal organization of renown with many musical triumphs to its credit.

This quartet is expected to be one of the most pleasing and successful organizations at the assembly this year. It is composed of Gertrude Farrell, soprano; Helen Mueller, contralto; Eugene Dressler, tenor; Hadya Parry Thomas, bass; Evelyn Maynes, accompanist.

The mixed quartet will give the prelude to the Sunday afternoon program and will present a full concert Sunday evening.

There is only ONE Duco — DU PONT Duco

DU CO is a specific product created and manufactured only by du Pont. It is applied to automobiles by 23 manufacturers and by authorized DU CO Refinishers. DU CO is not a paint nor a varnish. It is a finish of velvety smoothness and astonishing durability.

Naturally, a product with such remarkable qualities and immediate acceptance by the public is widely imitated. But the fundamental behind DU CO never can be imitated—for the accumulated experience of du Pont chemical engineers stands alone.

... and only one way to have it applied correctly

That is by taking your car to an Authorized Duco Refinishing Station—qualified by special training to apply DU CO, using the complete du Pont Duco System from the bare metal up. Look for the sign. Then, and only then can you be sure that you have — DU CO!

- 1 The longest wearing finish known
- 2 A finish that gas, oil, mud, tar, battery acids, etc., cannot harm
- 3 A finish that is easier to keep clean
- 4 A finish in the shade and lustre of your choice
- 5 A finish that increases the re-sale value of your car

—and finally a finish that requires only a very short time for the complete job.

MUNCIE DOCTOR ON TRIAL BUILDING IS CONSIDERED

Harry Spickerman Charged With Illegal Sale of Narcotics

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17—Dr. Harry Spickerman of Muncie was to go on trial in federal court today charged with illegal sale of narcotics.

Spickerman is alleged by federal narcotic agents to have been one of the largest handlers of "dope" in the middle west. Two thousand morphine tablets were found in his office when it was raided, according to the authorities.

Gerald Chapman, prince of bandits, was captured near Dr. Spickerman's home last January and taken to Connecticut, where he was tried and sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman.

Russell Price, city Secretary, Des Moines.

The Temple will be elaborately decorated for the event, carrying out the oriental effect required for the degree.

The Pilgrims of Nabor is a purely local organization, originating here some five years ago but which has gained national attention. The membership is limited to members of the Rebekah degree, both men and women. It has over five hundred members distributed all over the state, and the meetings are largely attended.

The Hejazers of Nabor, a band of oriental musicians, will enliven the occasions with music appropriate for the degree.

WIND DAMAGE ON 3 FARMS IS HEAVY

The greatest sufferer in the storm late Tuesday was the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction line, which was put out of operation, when wind wrecked the wires and trolley between Fountaintown and Morris-town. There were 28 poles blown down, and the heavy high tension feeder line carrying the electricity, was blown from the poles for a distance of 3½ miles, according to Amos R. Baxter, general superintendent, of this city.

The line had suffered other losses during the day due to storms and winds, and was just getting back into full operation, when the second severe storm arrived. Workmen were rushed from this city after the storm, and succeeded in making temporary repairs about five o'clock this morning, and regular traffic was resumed today.

Many fruit trees were blown down during the wind storm late Tuesday afternoon, but there was no damage from lightning in the county, so far as could be learned today.

Water was standing in the fields today, making farm work impossible. This is in strong contrast to a few days ago when the ground was baked and farmers were discouraged about the future of their crops, especially oats and wheat, and pasture land.

18 MINERS KILLED

MR. HOUSEHOLDER:

Undoubtedly you have complete coverage against fire, but are your buildings insured against weather?

You pay out good money to keep your buildings insured against fire, and fire is an uncertainty — you are gambling when you pay the premium.

But you can be absolutely certain that rain, wind, snow and the sun are gradually destroying your buildings unless they're protected. Nothing except good paint will protect them against the ravages of the elements.

When you pay insurance you look into the resources and reliability of the company. When you buy paint look into the ingredients that determine its length of service.

You'll find Perfection Paint economical weather insurance. But don't confuse economy with cheapness.

The price per job, and per year, rather than per gallon, is the true measure of economy, and measured by this rule, Perfection Paint is as economical as any paint on the market — economical because it goes farther and lasts longer.

Perfection is a good paint because it's made of exactly the right proportions of good White Lead, good Zinc Oxide, good Drier, good Turpentine, and pure Linseed Oil, the best that money can buy.

We have a paint and varnish for your every need—House (inside and out), Barn, Wagon, Roof, Fences, Auto and Furniture.

Respectfully,

GUNN HAYDON.

BANDIT TAKEN TO LOGANSPORT

Attempt to be Made to Identify Alleged Galveston Bank Robber

Gary, Ind., June 17—George Marshall, alleged member of the bandit gang that robbed the state bank at Galveston, Ind., was taken to Logansport today for bank officials to attempt to identify him.

Arlan Ray and Frank Splady and Helen Eris, sweetheart of Marshall, are held in jail at Hammond awaiting the outcome of the attempt to identify Marshall.

Though their implication in the actual robbery is uncertain, police believe they will be material witnesses in the trial of Marshall.

Charles Cordik, of Calumet City, Ill., has already been identified by Galveston authorities as one of the bandits.

Crop Outlook Better

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17—Crop experts today viewed the outlook in Indiana with more confidence following two days of rain which broke the long drought. The rainfall was general throughout the state.

In Indianapolis 2.32 inches fell in forty-eight hours, more than fell during the entire month of May. There was little rise in rivers and streams after the rain as most of it soaked into the dry ground.

Safe and Sane Swimming

If all of the safeguards for a good swim, advised by medical authorities, were followed to the letter, comparatively few of us could ever know the joy of a refreshing dip, unless we were so fortunately situated that a lake or the seashore were available.

There is no intention of ridiculing common sense rules that should be observed in indulging in this fine summer recreation, but to every boy and many men who are still boys at heart, the old swimming hole still has a lure that can't be resisted.

While it is true drownings do not account for all the deaths from swimming each summer, there are many who have no access to sanitary pools, and must take a chance when they enter the water. They can be reasonably certain as to its purity, however, if the water is moving and is cleansing itself. Of course, the risk that accompanies swimming in stagnant water should not be taken.

Safe from the water's purity, there are other simple rules for safe and sane swimming that every boy should know and understand, else he may pay with his life for his folly.

No one should go in the water when overheated because of the danger of cramps. Neither should one swim immediately after eating; an interval of at least two hours should elapse.

The splendid tonic effects of swimming are lost when the swimmer remains in the water until over tired, and an undesirable reaction is substituted. The beneficial effects of a swim can best be felt by not remaining in the water longer than thirty minutes.

Allowing wet clothes to dry on the body is regarded as a dangerous practice that may lead to serious complications. It is much better to enter the water several times daily, taking a brisk rub after each swim and changing into dry clothes.

Fishing Season Opens

The closed season on two species of black bass and bluegills, which started May 1, ended Tuesday and what many look upon as the greatest of all sports is being enjoyed again.

The fishing in Rush county streams is reported to be splendid but many will try their luck in the northern Indiana lakes during the course of the summer.

Those expecting to flirt with the wily game fish this season should bear in mind that the Indiana law does not permit taking bass under 10-inches in length, and that rock bass or goggle-eye or red eye must be 6 inches long. There is no length limit on bluegills. One is permitted to catch 12 black bass in one day, and two or more persons fishing from a boat may take 20 bass. The daily catch on bluegills is limited to 50 per person.

Conservation officials say that black bass and bluegills will not have finished spawning by June 16, and urge fishermen not to take off the parent fish if nests are found. They explain that molestation of fish at spawning time cuts great inroads into the natural reproduction and defeats the goal all true sportsmen seek—namely that our public waters be returned to their former excellence as habitats of aquatic life. Once the eggs are left unguarded by reason the parent fish are caught, they are destroyed and millions of fish lost.

Persons fishing Hoosier streams should provide themselves with a license, officials point out, because game wardens are patrolling the fishing localities and are alert to enforce the law. Resident licenses cost $1, and every fisherman leaving his own or adjacent county must possess a license. The law reads that the wife of a license holder may fish on the husband's license. This privilege is also extended to all children under 18-years old of a license holder. Honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War, and residents serving in the Spanish American, Philippine and World Wars may fish and hunt in Indiana without a license. No other state gives such a privilege to former service men. Former service men of this state can procure free permits from the county clerk.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From Daily Republican
Friday, June 17, 1910.

Scott Conde underwent an operation this morning at the Sexton sanitarium. He recovered nicely and it is believed that he will recover.

The annual joint lodge memorial services will be held Sunday when the members of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and Red Men lodges will decorate the graves of their dead brothers at East Hill cemetery.

An event which really is an event in the life of most every boy and girl in Rush county, came this afternoon when the annual educational day exercises were held at the Main Street Christian church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Logan, Mr. Ross Logan and Miss Ruby McMillin visited Mr. and Mrs. Francis Thatcher of near Rushville Sunday. (Union Township correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. John Dickey gave a party Saturday night at their home east of Fairview for their son Albert. Quite a good many of the young attended from around here. (In and Around Fairview.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Conn of North Vernon attended the funeral of his daughter, Mrs. Lora Miller, (Orange township.)

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Naylor, who were married at Indianapolis a few days ago, are spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Naylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Casady, near Homer. They will leave soon for Panama, where Mr. Naylor has a lucrative government position.

Miss Ethel Blackledge is home from Butler college to spend the summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Blackledge in North Main street.

Jack Knecht spent the day in Indianapolis attending the events at the motor speedway.

William Schrader, who graduated from Purdue University this year, has gone to Pittsburg, Pa., where he has a position with the Westinghouse Electric company.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mathews of Bloomington have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter Miss Edith and Gladstone H. Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barrett of this city, the ceremony to take place Wednesday, June 29.

Stewart's Washington LetterBY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Constitutional lawyers, one of them prominent enough to occupy a seat on the federal supreme bench, though he can't be quoted by name, aren't a bit certain Tennessee can't make her anti-evolution law stick.

Not that they believe its violation can be punished by fine or imprisonment. Any such penalty, imposed by a lower court will be set aside on appeal, the authorities here are confident.

But they do think the state of Tennessee probably is entitled to dictate what shall and shall not be taught in her own state-supported schools.

The Tennesseans foot the bill and if they choose to bar instruction even in reading, writing and arithmetic, there's a strong tendency on the constitutional experts' part to hold their hands.

In case any teacher they hire disregards their wishes, the best guess seems to be that, while he can't be punished as a criminal, he can be fired for insubordination.

The Tennesseans may be making themselves ridiculous, it's agreed, but that's their business.

A LITTLE analysis of the situation shows quite readily why Vice President Dawes is getting no support from the White House, or many of the Republican leaders outside of it, in his campaign to get the Senate rules changed so as to speed up business.

The whole purpose of the proposed alterations is to prevent a Senate minority, by dilatory tactics, from holding up legislation desired by the majority.

When the present Senate met last March the administration, and doubtless Vice President Dawes, thought the Republicans were in control. At that stage of the game the White House appeared favorably to the change Dawes demanded.

But it soon became evident a mistake had been made. Not the Regular Republicans, but a Democratic-Progressive alliance dominated.

Immediately the more experienced Republican old-liners soured on the Dawes scheme. What would have served their ends as a majority was precisely what they didn't want as a minority. Some other time, maybe, but not now.

Dawes, however, seems to think he's hit on something likely to be popular with the voters, if not with the politicians, and refuses to quit. The old guard doesn't particularly mind hearing him talk. He can't do anything by himself.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE JARDINE, whose department is charged with administering the federal highway act, says motor trucks can't compete with the railroads on long hauls. Down at interstate commerce commission headquarters they answer in behalf of the railroads that motor trucks may have all the short ones they want—and thrive welcome.

Indeed, many experienced transportation men have been worrying lest the railroads be ruined by their short hauls. The way they tell it, the idea's this:

Moving freight over their rails is comparatively a small part of what it costs the roads to get it from the consignors' hands into the consignees'. The big items are bookkeeping and handling. These are just as much for a short as for a long haul.

Besides, a long haul allows latitude for economy in routing, whereas a short one is apt to leave little room for choice. Thus, according to the railroads, and interstate commerce officials bear them out, a 100 or 200 mile haul easily may cost a road more than one of 1000 miles.

Question: Why is a used Buick the next best buy to a new Buick?

Answer: Because the correctness of Buick design and the quality of Buick manufacture are not altered by use. A used Buick is a better investment than many new cars of other makes.

The evening was enjoyed in games and dancing and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church met with Mrs. John Wallace Tuesday afternoon at her home in West Third street. She was assisted by Mrs. A. L. Chew, Mrs. Edwin Megee and Miss Georgia Morris. Subject for the afternoon was "West Indies and the Philippine Islands," with Mrs. Holmes as the leader of the program. During the business session

Embroidery in Bright Colors

THE lines to this gown of white georgette crepe are simple enough, but the wide band of wool embroidery in bright colors and the fringed hemline make it very striking and unusual. plans were made for an exchange to be held June 20 in the room formerly occupied by the Oneal Fruit store.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Gertrude Andrews of Peru to Earl E. Morton, son of Mrs. Margaret E. Morton of this city, took place at the Country Club near Peru Monday afternoon, an account of which, from the Peru Morning Chronicle, is as follows:

"The prettiest and sweetest bride Peru has seen in many years," seems to express the opinion of all who were present when Miss Ruth Gertrude Andrews, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ellis Harvey Andrews, of this city and Earl Edward Morton, son of Mrs. Margaret E. Morton of Connersville, Ind., were married Monday afternoon at the Mississinewa Country Club.

Preceding the ceremony which was performed at 4 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Berneth Andrews and Miss Mabel Loughran, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Carson, at the piano and Mrs. Frank E. Holpeter on the violin, gave the following delightful program of bridal airs, while the

200 guests assembled in the beautifully decorated club house:

Selection from Rose Marie—Liedberg
Spring Song—Vocal Duet.
Mr. and Mrs. Berneth Andrews,
Because—vocal solo—d'Havdelot
Miss Mabel Loughran.

Nocturne—Mendelssohn
Dream of Love—Lisz
I Love You Truly—Carrie Jacob Bond

Because of You—Herbert

The huge fire place of the club house was banked on top with dracena and the lower part was a mass of mixed greenery and dainty white blossoms. Box trees and palms were arranged on either side. At intervals along the path leading to this altar were six large baskets filled with delphinium gladioli, oses and assorted flowers in rainbow shades.

To the ever sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march little Betty Sullivan, wearing a dainty frock of white ruffled net footing over a slip of pink silk, and Barbara Deniston of Rochester, clad in youthful pink and white with puffed trimming, entered, twining smiles from one to the other of the baskets forming an aisle for the procession.

They were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Helen Andrews, sister of the bride, and Miss Dean Finch of South Bend, gowned alike in the quaintest of bouffant frocks, fashioned from coral georgette and trimmed with cream Chantilly lace. Above the lace on the skirts were garlands of blue flowers with rhinestone centers. Their garden hats were of shirred georgette in blue and coral and they carried bouquets of pink roses, delphinium, cornflowers, pink snapdragons and forget-me-nots.

The matron of honor, Mrs. C. W. Hare of Bloomington, Ind., who entered next, was stunningly gowned in orchid georgette, appliqued with Chantilly lace and beaded in crystal. Her Leghorn picture hat a crown of pink and orchid ribbon intertwined and was trimmed with a single rose, and gold ribbon. Her bouquet, like that of the bridesmaids, was in pastel shades.

The bride entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, was the very essence of all that a bride should be. Her gown was an exquisite creation of white georgette crepe and Chantilly lace with trimmings of crystal beads. Floating from a cap held in place by orange blossoms and a band of pearls and crystal beads, her filmy veil, enhanced her.

Brides roses, and valley lilies

formed her shower bouquet. Her only jewels were the grooms gift, a bracelet of diamonds and sapphires, and the gift of his mother, a string of beautifully matched pearls. She was met at the altar by the groom and his attendant, William Baxter, of Knightstown, Ind. The impressive ring ceremony of the Baptist church was read by Dr. S. D. Huff.

After the ceremony the bride and groom, Mrs. Margaret Morton, mother of the groom, and Dr. and Mrs. Andrews received the congratulations of the guests.

Later the newlyweds left for a motor trip after which they will be at home at 225 West Second street, Rushville, Ind., for the summer months. For traveling Mrs. Morton wore an ensemble suit, the coat of which was "penny" brown bengaline and the dress gold and seal brown printed crepe. Her hat was brown taffeta embroidered in gold.

The bride, a graduate of the Peru high school, a student of Indiana University, a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and until recently a teacher in the schools of this city, is a young lady of many accomplishments and an enviable personality.

Mr. Morton, who is a graduate of DePauw University and a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, is in charge of the advertising department of the United Vacuum Appliance Corporation of Connersville, Ind. His pleasing manner has won for him many friends among the Peruvians who have met him during his visits here.

Ruth's friends regret the fact that her marriage will take her away from Peru, but they are united in their heartiest wishes that she and Mr. Morton may have a long life of happiness before them.

There was a large number of guests, including many from other Indiana cities. Guests from Rushville were Mrs. John Hiner, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hiner, Miss Helen Monjar and Miss Dorothy Frazer. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tingle of Connersville were also among the guests.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF STATE ATTORNEY SEEN

Italian Fires on Chicago Detective Who Resembles Robert E. Crowe, at City Hall

REVENGE FOR BOOZE WAR

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 17—A weird man hunt was on today in the catacombs of the loop for a bushy-haired, squat Italian who last evening invaded the combination city hall and county building in what was believed an attempt to assassinate State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. The man fired a shot at Detective Eldridge Curran, who was on guard in Crowe's office.

Curran resembles Crowe and police believe the Italian planned to kill the state's attorney in revenge for the arrest of two gunmen and the present energetic drive against the Genna gang of bootleggers probably the most powerful in Chicago.

Curran fired one shot at his assailant who fled into a tunnel and was soon lost in the maze of underground tunnels that run under the loop and are used for the transfer of merchandise. Scores of patrolmen, armed with shotguns and revolvers, and lighting their way with pocket flashlights and small searchlights, hunted all night and pushed their hunt today.

Attest: Leonard M. Barlow, Clerk Rush Circuit Court.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Rushville, Indiana, will until the hours of 7:00 p. m. JULY 7th, 1925, at its office in the City Building in Rushville, Indiana, receive sealed proposals for the erection and installation of one steam driven generating unit, direct driven, of a capacity of 700 to 800 H. P. together with all other necessary equipments.

No drawing or other specifications will be on file. Bidders are required to visit the plant with their own engineers and go over the present equipment and then submit the best up-to-date plan to complete this installation.

Proposals must be accompanied with plans and specifications, blue prints, drawings, etc., of the proposed layout, delivered, erected and operated for a period of 20 days, and subject to the approval of said Mayor and Common Council or their legally appointed superintendent or engineer.

All bids must be accompanied with a certified check in an amount equal to 3 per cent of the total cost as enumerated in the bidder's proposal. Also non-colusion affidavits must accompany the proposals.

Alternate proposals will at the same hours be received on an Oil Running Engine. Above conditions to apply the same as in steam driven units.

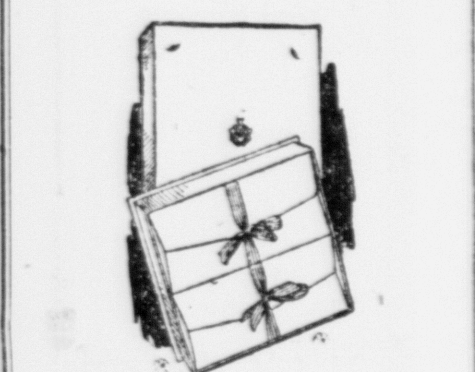

At the same time proposals will be received on a water softening system, twice the capacity of the present boiler capacity.

Each bidder will be expected to go over the present layout and give in detail all points and statistical data covered by their proposal.

The Common Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids received and if not awarded on date opened, checks will be returned within a reasonable time to unsuccessful bidder.

RAIL WRECK DEATH LIST IS MOUNTING

Forty-Three are Dead and More are Likely to Die From Injuries in Derailment Accident

54 OTHERS IN HOSPITALS

Deadly Steam That Came Hissing Like a Geyser from Engine Pipes Cause Most Casualties

(By United Press)
Hacktstown, N. J., June 17—“The German Excursion” wreck of the Lackawanna railroad near here today had claimed a toll that marks it as one of the worst railroad disasters in years.

Recheck at the hospitals early today placed the dead at 43 men, women and children, with many more suffering terrible burns from which they may die.

A cauldron of steam which engulfed over 100 passengers when the Lackawanna excursion train plunged into a sand-clogged switch near here early yesterday, buckling up day coaches and Pullmans, brought the fatality rate to its gruesome figure. Most of the deaths resulted from steam burns which left the victims helpless and in agony.

Though only seven bodies were found in the wreckage after the accident occurred, the death toll mounted rapidly throughout the day and last night as victims succumbed to burns and injuries in five New Jersey and Pennsylvania hospitals.

Many of those still in hospitals are reported on the verge of death today and it is believed the final toll may draw close to fifty.

Mrs. Caroline Moack, Mrs. Lillian Laforge and Michael Dettner, all of Chicago, died at hospitals during the early morning.

The accident, which occurred on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, was due to a sand-clogged switch resulting from the severe storm, according to the company's official report.

Deadly steam, that came hissing like a geyser from the broken pipes of the engine was responsible for three quarters of the fatalities.

Investigations of the accident have been started by the public utilities board, the interstate commerce commission, coroners, county detectives and the railroad.

One fact already disclosed by the inquiries is that a coal train was wrecked recently at the same spot because of sand and gravel clogging the tracks.

Joseph Snyder, who lives near the scene of the tragedy, was the first to reach the smoldering mass of wreckage.

In describing the scene, Snyder said:

“It was like nothing I ever thought I'd see. There were men and women and kids all around everywhere, screaming worse than I ever heard. There was one fat woman who wasn't hurt a bit who was caught by the leg in a window and was hanging head down. We got her out.

“It was 15 minutes before the others came with the lanterns and we couldn't see anything. All we could do was to go toward the screams and they came from everywhere. There was one big fellow, the biggest of the lot. He wanted me to shoot him. I'll pay you to shoot me, he says, but, of course, I couldn't even if I would. I had no gun.”

A hero of the wreck was Barney Judge of Scranton, Pa., flagman of the ill-fated train and sole survivor of the crew. Though only semi-conscious, he extricated himself from the wreckage, seized his red lantern, flares and torpedoes and crawled back to protect what was left of the train from a rear end collision.

After placing flares and torpedoes Judge reached a telephone and notified a train dispatcher of the tragedy. Then he returned to the scene and remained on duty until relieved.

A tale of miraculous escape was told by Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiler, elderly residents of Holy Cross, Iowa. Though riding in one of the forward cars they escaped with minor bruises when their coach plunged over the roadbed and was demolished.

“My husband and I were in the fourth car,” said Mrs. Anna Jollie of Chicago. “I was hurled from my berth in a shower of glass. I got out of the car, some way, and in the half light I heard voices calling ‘What happened?’ ‘Are you hurt?’ ‘Where are we?’

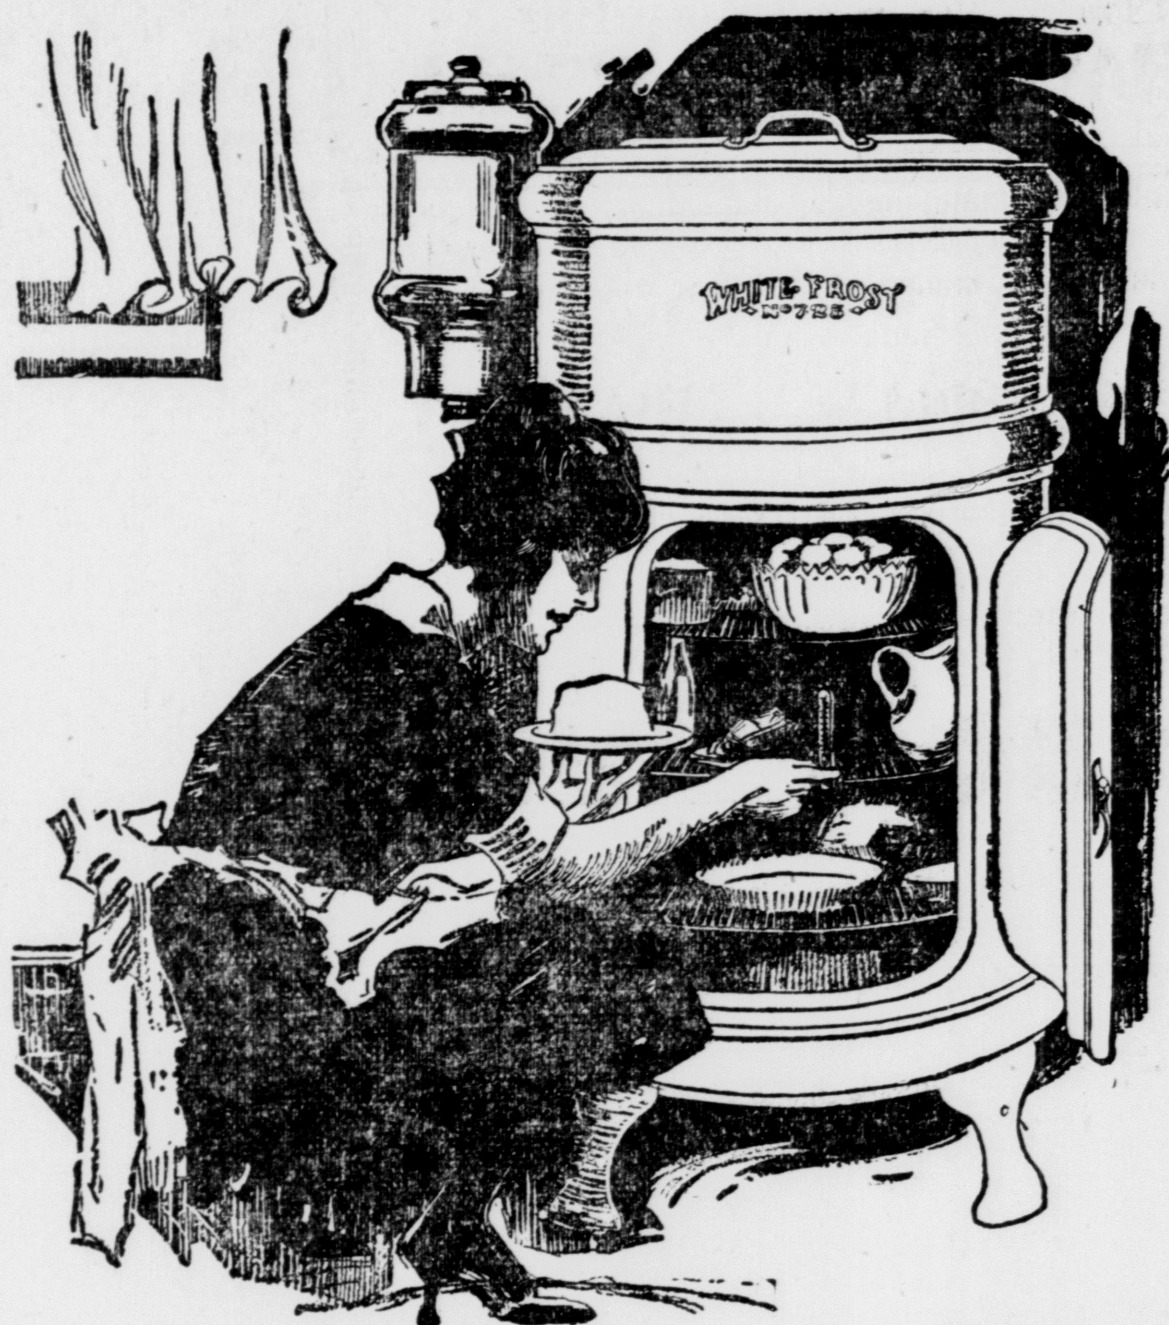

“A poor woman ran distractedly toward me. Her hand, held high, was nearly severed above the wrist. ‘Get scissors and take this off,’ she gasped. I tore my skirt and with a piece of wood from the wreckage, made a tourniquet, stanching the flow of blood and led her to a country doctor, who was doing yeoman service.

“I heard a child groan and with other women, went to dig her out. Then we found another woman and with the aid of farmer boys managed to dig her out with our bare hands and took her where the doctor could get to her. My memory got fuzzy then and I don't remember much more.”

Tipton—Two young men at Tipton were marched to jail at the point of guns by citizens who suspected them of “peeping.”

How Cold is Your Refrigerator?

A difference of five degrees in a refrigerator is just the difference between having foods crisp and cold and having them damp and cool. It may also be the difference between good health and sickness.

WHITE FROST REFRIGERATORS

Authorities maintain that bacteria thrive in food not kept below 50 degrees in temperature. Put a thermometer in your refrigerator and see what the temperature is!

The White Frost is completely enameled inside, is clean and sanitary. Its double metal jackets with dead air space carefully sealed between and its ground cork insulation insure the keeping of foods at proper temperatures.

Let us show you this economical, efficient refrigerator. We have an interesting booklet for you, “What You Should Know About a Refrigerator.”

After her wonderful dinner-she told them about KELVINATED FOODS

Kelvinated foods are foods that have been kept for some time in the frosty, dry cold produced by Kelvinator electric refrigeration. In this dry cold they undergo a remarkable change.

Meats become mellow, tender and flavorful. Green vegetables “crisp up” until they are deliciously fresh and inviting. All foods stay wholesome and appetizing. You can prepare dainty sherbets, ices and other desserts without using ice. Or you can freeze sparkling cubes of ice, just the right size for chilling beverages.

Kelvination is refrigeration that requires no attention. Day and night—month after month—it keeps the refrigerator very cold with none of the care demanded by ice.

We can put Kelvinator in the refrigerator you are now using. Phone or call for information.

WIND DAMAGE ON 3 FARMS IS HEAVY

Makes Cyclonic Dip West of Rushville, Unroofing Barn and Shatters Window Panes

TWO STORMS IN 18 HOURS

More Are Due Before Present Storm Center Passes, Forecaster Predicts Today

A terrific wind of cyclonic proportions, took a dip on three farms west and northwest of Rushville late Tuesday afternoon, doing considerable damage at each place. Insurance said to be sufficient to cover only part of the loss.

The three places which suffered in the wind storm were the Robert Powell, Earl Horton and Luther Caldwell homes. The Powell and Horton places are northwest of Rushville and the Caldwell home is west on the Arlington road. The three farms are adjoining.

At the Horton home, all windows on the south side of the house were broken, and in some instances the window frames were torn from the building. Water that poured into the rooms, did considerable damage.

At the Caldwell home, windows were shattered in the home, but the greatest loss here was to the barn, which was unroofed by the wind, and the structure was almost levelled.

At the Powell home, a chimney was blown down, with the massive weight falling through the roof into the living room. This also caused volumes of water to pour into the house.

Trees were damaged in the path of this "young" cyclone, and many branches torn off. One highway in this vicinity was blocked, when a large tree was blown across the roadway.

Insurance adjusters were visiting the scene this afternoon, preparing to adjust the losses. No estimate on the amount of damage was forthcoming today.

More rain is probable before the present storm center passes, according to the weather bureau, in its prediction this afternoon, in which thunderstorms are reported as probable for tonight, and with mostly fair on Thursday.

Farmers in the immediate vicinity of Rushville are now experiencing too much rainfall all at once, and are willing now to have some of the moisture postponed for a week or ten days, when it may be needed again.

Two heavy rainfalls have occurred during the past 18 hours, with a heavy downpour late Tuesday, in which a strong wind prevailed, and another good rainfall at noon today.

PLANE SHIP OF ARCTIC EXPEDITION SETS SAIL

Lieut. Commander MacMillan Reiterates His Determination to Search for Roald Amundsen

TO BE FOREMOST PURPOSE

Boston, June 17—The S. S. Peary the plane ship of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, sailed from the Charleston navy yard at 12:15 p. m. today on the first lap of the northern voyage.

The sailing of the steamer for Wiscasset, Maine, where it will join the flagship Bowdoin prior to leaving for Etah, Greenland, on Saturday, followed impressive ceremonies on the deck of the continental frigate "Constitution."

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson brought the official Godspeed of President Coolidge and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. Senator Simon Fess of Ohio also wished the party farewell.

Lieutenant Commander MacMillan reiterated to his friends his determination to subordinate every other plan for the relief of Roald Amundsen and his fellow Arctic aviators.

Of his own purpose in going north, MacMillan said he hoped to find the continent which Peary, discoverer of the north pole, believed existed.

TWO DAY TOUR OF CORN PLOTS

Walker Township Boys to Visit Them Thursday and Friday

A two-day tour of Boys' Corn Club plots in Walker township will be held Thursday and Friday, and the schedule as printed last Saturday in the Daily Republican will be followed. Only mornings will be devoted to inspection, which is for the purpose of giving the twenty-one boys in the club an opportunity to see how their competitors are progressing with their work.

Ten plots will be visited Thursday morning, starting at 7:30 o'clock with Hubert Callahan's, which is on his father's farm. He is the son of Dossie Callahan. Eleven plots are to be inspected Friday morning, beginning with Harry Webster, son of William Webster, at 7:30 o'clock. Paul Imel, vocational teacher at Manilla, will be in charge.

JURY FIXES FINE ON AUTO DRIVER

Convicts Walter Matthews of Connersville for Failing to Stop After Accident

FAILED TO LEAVE HIS NAME

Prosecutor Says Conviction Should be Warning to Others—Divorce Suit on File

Walter Matthews of Connersville was convicted by a jury in the circuit court here late Tuesday and fined $110 on the charge of failing to leave his name and address following an automobile accident, as required under the state motor law.

The verdict was reached by the jury after a few hours deliberation, and the penalty for violation of the section, was a fine in any sum not exceeding $500, which could also have included a sentence not to exceed six months. The jury voted on a fine only, and agreed on $110.

Prosecutor Ketchum, following the outcome of the suit, stated that it should be a lesson to all automobile drivers, that the law requires the driver to report to a police officer the fact that an accident has occurred. The evidence against Matthews was to the effect that he left the scene of the accident, when his machine collided with a car driven by B. O. Simpson of this city.

Mr. Simpson reported the accident to the state police, and officers from this department traced the charge to Mr. Matthews of Connersville. The question of responsibility for the accident does not enter into the charge, as each machine driver involved in an accident, is required to report the affair to the nearest police station or officer, and if an officer is not close, then it shall be the duty of the persons involved to leave their names and addresses with some responsible person of the community in which the accident happened.

Among the new business in the circuit court today, was a complaint for divorce filed by Roxie Gray against Wendell Phillips Gray, residents of Glenwood, and formerly of Fayette county. The defendant is a son of Judge Gray, former judge of Fayette county.

The plaintiff in her action alleges that they were married January 22, 1921 and separated July 24, 1922, when he is alleged to have abandoned her and their child, and has failed to provide. She charged in a second paragraph of the complaint that during their married life, he failed to provide and work, that he was quarrelsome, made false charges against her character, and mistreated her. Besides seeking a divorce, she also asks for the custody of their child, and a reasonable amount for support.

The complaint of the Anderson Trust Company against Morton Barber of Carthage, a suit to collect on an overdraft, has been venued to Henry county on a change of venue granted the defendant.

FOR PILGRIMS OF NAHOR

Grand Officers and Other Notables are Expected—Pilgrimage to Follow Home Board Session

Preliminary arrangements were made Tuesday night at a meeting held at the Odd Fellows Temple for a pilgrimage of the Pilgrims of Nabor in this city Saturday evening, June 27. As is the usual custom the novitiates will be from out of town points, the majority from Bloomington and Richmond.

The pilgrimage has been arranged for this particular date on account of the fact that the Bloomington Odd Fellows are visiting the Home at Greensburg the next day and many of them will attend the meeting here and remain over for the picnic at the Home. The monthly meeting of the Home board, attended by the officials of the Grand Lodge and Rebekah state officers, has been arranged for the previous day at Greensburg so that the members of that body may be here for the pilgrimage.

Funds have been collected from the members to completely rehabilitate the staff in costumes and paraphernalia as all their property was destroyed in the fire that destroyed the Odd Fellow building last year. Rehearsals will be held next week in preparation for the work.

Committees were announced at the meeting last evening for the pilgrimage as follows: Reception of novices, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Arbuckle and Mrs. George P. Bornwasser, grand secretary, Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Behrmer, grand master, Connersville, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Thomas, past grand master Bloomington, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sample, city, Lawrence Handley, mayor of Richmond, W. H. Bradshaw, Delphi, and Mrs. Evans president Rebekah Assembly.

Refreshments—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gregg, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Schrader, Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Reeves, Bertha Adams, Margaret Perkins, Anne Glone, Mabel Fisher and Lena Weber.

SAYS SHEPHERD HAD GUILTY KNOWLEDGE

State's Attorney Attempts to Prove Defendant in Germ Murder Betrayed Himself

THREE WITNESSES CALLED

Prosecution Endeavors to Prove Shepherd Put Words in Billy McClintock's Mouth

Original Court, Chicago, June 17—The testimony of three witnesses in the state today attempted to prove that William D. Shepherd had "guilty knowledge" of Billy McClintock's fatal illness. Shepherd is on trial, accused of murdering young McClintock by feeding him typhoid germs.

Each of the witnesses testified that Shepherd made statements to the effect that Billy knew he had typhoid fever even before his physicians diagnosed the case as such.

"It is one of the strongest links in our circumstantial case against Shepherd," State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe declared.

"This man had a guilty conscience. He had given Billy typhoid germs and then gave him castor oil so that the germs could do their work. The fact that Shepherd quoted Billy as saying that he had typhoid fever even before doctors were called in shows Shepherd is guilty."

Elbert Allen, a court reporter, identified notes which he took when Shepherd was first questioned by Crowe in regard to the case.

The notes showed that Shepherd

LEGION BUILDING FORMALLY OPENED

NATIONAL HOME OF LEGION

Governor Jackson Presents Building and Commander Drain Responds in Acceptance

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, June 17—With impressive ceremonies participated in by officials of Indiana and the national organization of the American Legion, the new headquarters building of the Legion was formally opened today.

The building is the first unit of Indiana's $10,000,000 World War Memorial.

A parade in which were carried the colors of the fifty-seven departments of the Legion preceded the dedicatory exercises.

A mounted detachment of police and the Shriners' band of Indianapolis headed the parade. Governor Jackson, Mayor Shank, National Commander Drain and other Legion officials rode in automobiles in the parade.

Marcus Sonntag of Evansville, president of the board of trustees of the Indiana World War Memorial, opened the exercises with a brief statement of the work that has already been accomplished on the memorial.

Governor Jackson on behalf of the state presented the building to the Legion and Commander Drain responded with a speech of acceptance.

"In memory of our countrymen who laid down their lives that this nation might live, that civilization might go forward and that the rule of righteousness might prevail in the world, this dignified memorial has been undertaken by the state of Indiana and Marion county and the city of Indianapolis," Drain said.

"A part of this worthy project is this magnificent building which has been generously provided as the National Headquarters of the American Legion.

"The American Legion, which was born of the world war to make available to our country and the world all of good which could come out of the war, accepts the building which shall always be, so long as there is an American Legion, its central

ROADSTER CLIPS OFF POLE

Automobile Belonging to Carthage Men Turns Over North of City

A Buick roadster belonging to Newlin brothers of Carthage was wrecked a short distance north of Rushville Tuesday night when it left the road and clipped off a telephone pole.

The names of the occupants of the car were not learned, as it was impossible to communicate with the owners by telephone today, but it was understood that no one was injured.

The automobile was brought to a Rushville garage this morning. From the appearance of the machine, it turned over after striking the pole.

UNIT TO BE ADDED TO THE CITY PLANT

Council Takes First Step by Deciding to Receive Bids on Equipment July 7

TO SUPPLY USERS OF POWER

Requirements to Grow Because of Probability of Another New Factory Next Year

First steps towards adding another unit to the electric lighting system at the city water and light plant were taken Tuesday night, when councilmen decided to receive bids on various types of equipment at their next meeting night, July 7.

The matter was finally decided upon in order to take care of any future emergencies that might arise from the addition of more power consumers, and to place the plant in a position to maintain its high efficiency in giving service.

Robert L. Tompkins and Lee Endress, representing the Endres-Tompkins Furniture company, which is now under construction and will be ready for machinery by August 1, appeared before the council concerning electric power and rates. On July 1 a petition will be filed with the public service commission by the city, asking for a revision of rates.

The new factory is considering the building of their own electric light plant to accommodate the requirements for the Rushville Furniture factory and the Endres-Tompkins factory, but if satisfactory rates and service can be rendered by the city, this plan will be abandoned, and power will be obtained from the city.

The engines and machinery at the plant now can accommodate the new factory at any time, according to A. T. Mahin, superintendent, but it is believed the best policy to prepare for the future and install a new unit to take care of any breakdown, or to provide for additional service to other factories that might locate here soon. Mr. Tompkins stated that a third factory would probably rise next year in the vicinity of the two in which he is now interested, and pointed out that the unit to be installed should be capable of meeting future requirements.

The council also approved the adoption of an ordinance and resolution annexing a portion of land to the city, as petitioned for, and to include more than three acres of land of the Endres-Tompkins factory site. The addition is known as the Endres-Tompkins additions, and it was annexed by ordinance.

The matter of sewer in the Belmont addition, to have its outlet in the Stewart and Stewart additions, sewer, will be considered at a special meeting Thursday night.

A petition was presented by William R. Martin, asking for electric and water lines to lot 12 in Stewart and Stewart's addition, as he sets out that he is going to build a house at once. The lot is located in Main street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth.

A representative of another automatic traffic signal company was present, and demonstrated the use of his machine. Objections to the present one, now on trial, is the amount of electricity it requires for operation, with an estimate of $50 a month. A meter will be placed on the traffic signal this week to test out the cost of operation.

DOCTOR DESCRIBES GIRL'S CONDITION

John Kingsbury, M. D., of Indianapolis, Tells of Injuries Suffered By Midge Oberholtzer

WITNESS AT BAIL HEARING

Women Weep as Physician Relates How Girl Was Bruised and Wounded in Alleged Attack

(By United Press)

Noblesville, Ind., June 17—While spectators leaned forward in their seats to catch every word of his testimony, Dr. John Kingsbury of Indianapolis told of the physical condition of Miss Midge Oberholtzer, after her return from a midnight train ride to Hammond, Indiana, with D. C. Stephenson last March.

Dr. Kingsbury's testimony was given in the hearing on the plea of Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry for bond, while awaiting trial on a charge of murder for the death of the girl.

Dr. Kingsbury's testimony was substantially the same as that he gave at the coroner's inquest immediately after Miss Oberholtzer's death in April.

Women in the court room wept openly as Dr. Kingsbury described bruises and wounds on Miss Oberholtzer's body, which he testified she told him were inflicted by Stephenson during an alleged attack on the train enroute to Hammond.

It was a terrible ordeal for the members of the dead girl's family. George Oberholtzer, her father, sat with his head buried in his hands and at times seemed on the verge of a collapse. The mother lost the calm that marked her countenance and sobbed audibly. Marshall Oberholtzer, brother of the dead girl, sat with head erect and face grim and calm and listened intently to every word.

Stephenson paled a trifle as the weight of the physician's story fell upon him, but followed the testimony carefully, comparing it bit by bit with the typewritten copy of Miss Oberholtzer's dying statement.

Occasionally he smiled as he discovered a discrepancy between the statement and the story told by Miss Oberholtzer to Dr. Kingsbury.

Dr. Kingsbury testified he was called to the Oberholtzer home immediately after Miss Oberholtzer was returned from the garage at Stephenson's home where she said she was taken upon being brought back from Hammond in Stephenson's automobile. He said Miss Oberholtzer was suffering great agony from the poison and that medicine was administered to relieve the pain.

Upon examination, he said he found she was bruised and injured about the head and body. These injuries, Dr. Kingsbury said Miss Oberholtzer told him were inflicted by Stephenson.

Dr. Kingsbury's story of Miss Oberholtzer's alleged abduction and trip to Hammond was substantially the same given in the deathbed statement of Miss Oberholtzer.

Efforts of the state to introduce the deathbed statement of Miss Oberholtzer at the present stage of the bail hearing were blocked today by ruling of Judge Hines.

The judge sustained eight objections of defense attorneys to reading of the statement as testimony during questioning of Asa Smith, attorney who drew up the statement.

Defense objections to introduction of the death-bed statement at this stage of the hearing struck at the competency of the entire document as evidence.

The chief objections were:

VENEERING MILL BURNS DOWN

Loss of $75,000 Suffered in Roachdale, Ind., Fire Early Today

Roachdale, Ind., June 17—Fire early today destroyed the veneering mill of the American Veneer and Lumber company here with a loss of $75,000.

Volunteers, with the aid of a small chemical weapon, succeeded in confining the flames to the one building. A large quantity of lumber and one freight car were destroyed. Company officials were unable to determine the origin of the blaze, which threw fifty men out of work.

STOLEN AUTO RECOVERED

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17—A Buick auto stolen from Paul Riley of Martinsville was found by police today after the driver had run it into a ditch on Emerson Avenue here. The driver escaped.

TO ATTEND DAIRY EXPOSITION

Many of Rush County Are Planning to go to National Event

Many farmers and business men of Rush county are planning to attend the National Dairy Exposition, which this year comes to Indiana for the first time, at Indianapolis, October 10 to 17, according to H. D. Van Maitre, county agricultural agent.

This Exposition affords an opportunity for every one interested in agricultural development to observe the finest dairy cattle in America and latest types of farm and factory machinery and to learn the best methods for making farming more profitable. A one and one-half fare rate to the Exposition is granted by all railroads for the round trip on the certificate plan.

That at the time Miss Oberholtzer made the statement she was not at the point of death. It was pointed out that a blood transfusion was made in the hope of saving her life five days after she signed the "death bed statement."

That a dying statement is only admissible in homicide cases and that her statement was a declaration of suicide and things she claimed occurred before and after she took poison with suicidal intent.

The three men are jointly indicted on a murder charge for the death of the girl from poison taken after an alleged abduction and assault by Stephenson.

Prosecutor Remy Tuesday attempted to get the statement in evidence during cross examination of Asa Smith, attorney for the Oberholtzer family who drew up the statement.

Defense attorneys strenuously objected to the prosecution's move asserting there was no evidence to prove that the girl's declaration constituted a dying statement.

Ira Holmes, one of the attorneys for the three accused men, indicated an effort would be made to bring out through questioning of Dr. John Kingsbury, the girl's physician, that she was not in a dying condition at the time the statement was read to her and signed.

Three other physicians were questioned by the defense late yesterday to establish the girl's condition and the cause of her death.

Dr. John A. MacDonald testified that Miss Oberholtzer was in a semi-delirious condition when he visited her.

It is the contention of the defense that the dying statement of the girl is incompetent evidence because of her condition when it was prepared. Dr. John Warvel and Dr. H. G. Wertz testified that the autopsy showed sufficient poison in Miss Oberholtzer's body to cause death.

They said bruises on her body which she claimed were inflicted by Stephenson during the alleged attack were not serious enough to have terminated fatally.

Eph Inman, chief defense attorney, sprang a sensation in quizzing Asa Smith. He asked Smith whether he did not prepare a complaint against Stephenson and offer to set tle for $100,000 and later for $10,000.

Instantly Remy was on his feet objecting to the question. After bitter argument on the point the state's objection was sustained.

Under questioning by Inman, Smith said the death statement was drawn up from parts of Miss Oberholtzer's story related by her at different times.

He said the completed statement was read to her, corrected to conform to changes she suggested, and that she then signed it.

Stephenson and his two aides listened attentively to the first day's proceedings in their fight for freedom on bond. They appeared in high spirits and Stephenson smiled broadly at acquaintances in the court room.

At the table of the prosecuting attorney sat Mr. and Mrs. George Oberholtzer, parents of the dead girl, and her brother, Marshall Oberholtzer.

Mrs. Oberholtzer was dressed in black and sobbed at mention of her daughter's name during the testimony.

office and the place from which its almost twelve thousands posts located all over the length and breadth of the land shall be directed in their efforts to aid the community, state and nation.

The Legion building occupies the northwest corner of the Memorial plaza, which when completed will cover five city blocks. The building is of limestone construction and the feature room is the national executive committee room, arranged in the form of a senate chamber with a raised rostrum for the national commander's chair.

Desks and chairs of the national committeemen bear the seal of each state, territory and foreign country represented.

Four floors of glistening Bedford limestone, arranged in the solidity of Grecian architectural style, give the building an exterior appearance of durability and stability together with an air of simplicity.

Great Vocal Organization Coming To Rush County Chautauqua Aug. 16.

CHICAGO MIXED QUARTET

The Chicago Mixed Quartet, which will be at the annual Rush county chautauqua on the closing day, Sunday, August 16, is a vocal organization of renown with many musical triumphs to its credit.

This quartet is expected to be one of the most pleasing and successful organizations at the assembly this year. It is composed of Gertrude Farrell, soprano; Helen Mueller, contralto; Eugene Dressler, tenor; Hadya Parry Thomas, bass; Evelyn Maynes, accompanist.

The mixed quartet will give the prelude to the Sunday afternoon program and will present a full concert Sunday evening.

There is only ONE Duco — DU PONT Duco

DUCO is a specific product created and manufactured only by du Pont. It is applied to automobiles by 23 manufacturers and by authorized DUCO Refinishers. DUCO is not a paint nor a varnish. It is a finish of velvety smoothness and astonishing durability.

Naturally, a product with such remarkable qualities and immediate acceptance by the public is widely imitated. But the fundamental behind DUCO never can be imitated—for the accumulated experience of du Pont chemical engineers stands alone.

... and only one way to have it applied correctly

That is by taking your car to an Authorized Duco Refinishing Station—qualified by special training to apply DUCO, using the complete du Pont Duco System from the bare metal up. Look for the sign. Then, and only then can you be sure that you have — DUCO!

1 The longest wearing finish known

2 A finish that gas, oil, mud, tar, battery acids, etc., cannot harm

3 A finish that is easier to keep clean

4 A finish in the shade and lustre of your choice

5 A finish that increases the resale value of your car

—and finally a finish that requires only a very short time for the complete job.

MUNCIE DOCTOR ON TRIAL

Harry Spickerman Charged With Illegal Sale of Narcotics

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17—Dr. Harry Spickerman of Muncie was to go on trial in federal court today charged with illegal sale of narcotics.

Spickerman is alleged by federal narcotic agents to have been one of the largest handlers of "dope" in the middle west. Two thousand morphine tablets were found in his office when it was raided, according to the authorities.

Gerald Chapman, prince of bandits, was captured near Dr. Spickerman's home last January and taken to Connecticut, where he was tried and sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman.

BUILDING IS CONSIDERED

Indiana Council Religious Education May Erect Structure

Winona Lake, Ind., June 17—The Indiana Council of Religious Education today considered the proposal for erection of a world Sunday School building at Winona Lake.

Under plans laid before the council, Winona Lake would become the center of activities of Sunday Schools throughout the world.

Funds for the building would be obtained through collection of a small sum from all Sunday school members in the United States.

Seven addresses on the problem of building Christian citizenship were on today's program of the council.

PILGRIMAGE TO BE MADE HERE JUNE 27

Russell Price, city secretary, Des Moines.

The Temple will be elaborately decorated for the event, carrying out the oriental effect required for the degree.

The Pilgrims of Nahor is a purely local organization, originating here some five years ago but which has gained national attention. The membership is limited to members of the Rebekah degree, both men and women. It has over five hundred members distributed all over the state, and the meetings are largely attended.

The Hejazers of Nahor, a band of oriental musicians, will enliven the occasions with music appropriate for the degree.

The greatest sufferer in the storm late Tuesday was the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction line, which was put out of operation, when wind wrecked the wires and trolley between Fountaintown and Morris-town. There were 28 poles blown down, and the heavy high tension feeder line carrying the electricity, was blown from the poles for a distance of 34 miles, according to Amos R. Baxter, general superintendent, of this city.

The line had suffered other losses during the day due to storms and winds, and was just getting back into full operation, when the second severe storm arrived. Workmen were rushed from this city after the storm, and succeeded in making temporary repairs about five o'clock this morning, and regular traffic was resumed today.

Many fruit trees were blown down during the wind storm late Tuesday afternoon, but there was no damage from lightning in the county, so far as could be learned today.

Water was standing in the fields today, making farm work impossible. This is in strong contrast to a few days ago when the ground was baked and farmers were discouraged about the future of their crops, especially oats and wheat, and pasture land.

18 MINERS KILLED

Sophia, June 17—Eighteen miners were killed today in an explosion in the "Prime-Boris" mine, which was the greatest mine disaster in Bulgaria's history.

BANDIT TAKEN TO LOGANSPORT

Attempt to be Made to Identify Alleged Galveston Bank Robber

Gary, Ind., June 17—George Marshall, alleged member of the bandit gang that robbed the state bank at Galveston, Ind., was taken to Logansport today for bank officials to attempt to identify him.

Arlan Ray and Frank Splady and Helen Eiss, sweetheart of Marshall, are held in jail at Hammond awaiting the outcome of the attempt to identify Marshall.

Though their implication in the actual robbery is uncertain, police believe they will be material witnesses in the trial of Marshall.

Charles Cordik, of Calumet City, Ill., has already been identified by Galveston authorities as one of the bandits.

CROP OUTLOOK BETTER

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17—Crop experts today viewed the outlook in Indiana with more confidence following two days of rain which broke the long drought. The rainfall was general throughout the state.

In Indianapolis 2.32 inches fell in forty-eight hours, more than fell during the entire month of May. There was little rise in rivers and streams after the rain as most of it soaked into the dry ground.

Rushville, Indiana

June —, 1925.

MR. HOUSEHOLDER:

Undoubtedly you have complete coverage against fire, but are your buildings insured against weather?

You pay out good money to keep your buildings insured against fire, and fire is an uncertainty — you are gambling when you pay the premium.

But you can be absolutely certain that rain, wind, snow and the sun are gradually destroying your buildings unless they're protected. Nothing except good paint will protect them against the ravages of the elements.

When you pay insurance you look into the resources and reliability of the company. When you buy paint look into the ingredients that determine its length of service.

You'll find Perfection Paint economical weather insurance. But don't confuse economy with cheapness.

The price per job, and per year, rather than per gallon, is the true measure of economy, and measured by this rule, Perfection Paint is as economical as any paint on the market — economical because it goes farther and lasts longer.

Perfection is a good paint because it's made of exactly the right proportions of good White Lead, good Zinc Oxide, good Drier, good Turpentine, and pure Linseed Oil, the best that money can buy.

We have a paint and varnish for your every need—House (inside and out), Barn, Wagon, Roof, Fences, Auto and Furniture.

Respectfully,

GUNN HAYDON.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1925

The One Great Friend:—A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Proverbs 18:24.PRAYER:—"What a friend we have in Jesus,
All our sins and griefs to bear;
What a privilege to carry,
Everything to God in prayer!"Safe and Sane SwimmingIf all of the safeguards for a good swim, advised by medical authorities, were followed to the letter, comparatively few of us could ever know the joy of a refreshing dip, unless we were so fortunately situated that a lake or the seashore were available.There is no intention of ridiculing common sense rules that should be observed in indulging in this fine summer recreation, but to every boy and many men who are still boys at heart, the old swimming hole still has a lure that can't be resisted.While it is true drownings do not account for all the deaths from swimming each summer, there are many who have no access to sanitary pools, and must take a chance when they enter the water. They can be reasonably certain as to its purity, however, if the water is moving and is cleansing itself. Of course, the risk that accompanies swimming in stagnant water should not be taken.Safe from the water's purity, there are other simple rules for safe and sane swimming that every boy should know and understand, else he may pay with his life for his folly.No one should go in the water when overheated because of the danger of cramps. Neither should one swim immediately after eating; an interval of at least two hours should elapse.The splendid tonic effects of swimming are lost when the swimmer remains in the water until over-tired, and an undesirable reaction is substituted. The beneficial effects of a swim can best be felt by not remaining in the water longer than thirty minutes.Allowing wet clothes to dry on the body is regarded as a dangerous practice that may lead to serious complications. It is much better to enter the water several times daily, taking a brisk rub after each swim and changing into dry clothes.Fishing Season OpensThe closed season on two species of black bass and bluegills, which started May 1, ended Tuesday and what many look upon as the great-est of all sports is being enjoyed again.The fishing in Rush county streams is reported to be splendid but many will try their luck in the northern Indiana lakes during the course of the summer.Those expecting to flirt with the wiley game fish this season should bear in mind that the Indiana law does not permit taking bass under 10-inches in length, and that rock bass or goggle-eye or red eye must be 6 inches long. There is no length limit on bluegills. One is permitted to catch 12 black bass in one day, and two or more persons fishing from a boat may take 20 bass. The daily catch on bluegills is limited to 50 per person.Conservation officials say that black bass and bluegills will not have finished spawning by June 16, and urge fishermen not to take off the parent fish if nests are found.
They explain that molestation of fish at spawning time cuts great inroads into the natural reproduction and defeats the goal all true sportsmen seek—namely that our public waters be returned to their former excellence as habitats of aquatic life.
Once the eggs are left unguarded by reason the parent fish are caught, they are destroyed and millions of fish lost.Persons fishing Hoosier streams should provide themselves with a license, officials point out, because game wardens are patrolling the fishing localities and are alert to enforce the law. Resident licenses cost $1, and every fisherman leaving his own or adjacent county must possess a license. The law reads that the wife of a license holder may fish on the husband's license. This privilege is also extended to all children under 18-years old of a license holder. Honorably discharged veterans of the Civil War, and residents serving in the Spanish American, Philippine and World Wars may fish and hunt in Indiana without a license. No other state gives such a privilege to former service men. Former service men of this state can procure free permits from the county clerk.FIFTEEN YEARS

WASHINGTON—Constitutional lawyers, one of them prominent enough to occupy a seat on the federal supreme bench, though he can't be quoted by name, aren't a bit certain Tennessee can't make her anti-evolution law stick.Not that they believe its violation can be punished by fine or imprisonment. Any such penalty, imposed by a lower court will be set aside on appeal, the authorities here are confident.But they do think the state of Tennessee probably is entitled to dictate what shall and shall not be taught in her own state-supported schools.The Tennesseans foot the bill and if they choose to bar instruction even in reading, writing and arithmetic, there's a strong tendency on the constitutional experts' part to hold they can do it.In case any teacher they hire disregards their wishes, the best guess seems to be that, while he can't be punished as a criminal, he can be fired for insubordination.The Tennesseans may be making themselves ridiculous. It's agreed, but that's their business.A LITTLE analysis of the situation shows quite readily why Vice President Dawes is getting no support from the White House, or many of the Republican leaders outside of it, in his campaign to get the Senate rules changed so as to speed up business.The whole purpose of the proposed alterations is to prevent a Senate minority, by dilatory tactics, from holding up legislation desired by the majority.When the present Senate met last March the administration, and doubtless Vice President Dawes, thought the Republicans were in control. At that stage ofthe game the White House appeared favorable to the change Dawes demanded.But it soon became evident a mistake had been made. Not the Regular Republicans, but a Democratic-Progressive alliance dominated.Immediately the more experienced Republican old-liners squared on the Dawes scheme. What would have served their ends as a majority was precisely what they didn't want as a minority. Some other time, maybe, but not now.Dawes, however, seems to think he's hit on something likely to be popular with the voters, if not with the politicians, and refuses to quit. The old guard doesn't particularly mind hearing him talk.
He can't do anything by himself.SECRETARY OF AGRICUL-TURE JARDINE, whose department is charged with administering the federal highway act, says motor trucks can't compete with the railroads on long hauls. Down at interstate commerce commission headquarters they answer in behalf of the railroads that motor trucks may have all the short ones they want—and thrice welcome.Indeed, many experienced transportation men have been worrying lest the railroads be ruined by their short hauls. The way they tell it, the idea's this:Moving freight over their rails is comparatively a small part of what it costs the roads to get it from the consignors' hands into the consignees'. The big items are bookkeeping and handling. These are just as much for a short haul as for a long haul.Besides, a long haul allows lattitude for economy in routing, whereas a short one is apt to leave little room for choice. Thus, according to the railroaders, and interstate commerce officials bear them out, a 100 or 200 mile haul easily may cost a road more than one of 1000 miles.The Hodge Podge

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 19

Question: Why is a used Buick the next best buy to a new Buick?Answer: Because the correctness of Buick design and the quality of Buick manufacture are not altered by use. A used Buick is a better investment than many new cars of other makes.

The evening was enjoyed in games and dancing and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church met with Mrs. John Wallace Tuesday afternoon at her home in West Third street. She was assisted by Mrs. A. L. Chew, Mrs. Edwin Mege and Miss Georgia Morris. Subject for the afternoon was "West Indies and the Philippine Islands," with Mrs. Holmes as the leader of the program. During the business session

THE lines to this gown of white georgette crepe are simple enough, but the wide band of wool embroidery in bright colors and the fringed hemline make it very striking and unusual. plans were made for an exchange to be held June 20 in the room formerly occupied by the Oneal Fruit store.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Gertrude Andrews of Peru to Earl E. Morton, son of Mrs. Margaret E. Morton of this city, took place at the Country Club near Peru Monday afternoon, an account of which, from the Peru Morning Chronicle, is as follows:

"The prettiest and sweetest bride Peru has seen in many years," seems to express the opinion of all who were present when Miss Ruth Gertrude Andrews, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ellis Harvey Andrews, of this city and Earl Edward Morton, son of Mrs. Margaret E. Morton of Connersville, Ind., were married Monday afternoon at the Mississinewa Country Club.

Preceding the ceremony which was performed at 4 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Berneth Andrews and Miss Mabel Loughran, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Carson, at the piano and Mrs. Frank E. Holpeter on the violin, gave the following delightful program of bridal airs, while the

200 guests assembled in the beautifully decorated club house:

Selection from Rose Marie—
Spring Song—Liebling
At Dawning—Vocal Duet.
Mr. and Mrs. Berneth Andrews.
Because—vocal solo—d'Avdelot
Miss Mabel Loughran.
Nocturne—Mendelssohn
Dream of Love—Lisz
I Love You Truly—Carrie Jacob Bond

Serenade—Herbert
Because of You—Mrs. Berneth Andrews

The huge fire place of the club house was banked on top with dracina and the lower part was a mass of mixed greenery and dainty white blossoms. Box trees and palms were arranged on either side. At intervals along the path leading to this altar were six large baskets filled with delphinium gladioli, roses and assorted flowers in rainbow shades.

To the ever sweet strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march little Betty Sullivan, wearing a dainty frock of white ruffled net footing over a slip of pink silk, and Barbara Deniston of Rochester, clad in youthful pink and white with puffed trimmings, entered, twining smiles from one to the other of the baskets forming an aisle for the procession.

They were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Helen Andrews, sister of the bride, and Miss Dean Finell of South Bend, gownned alike in the quaintest of bouffant frocks, fashioned from coral georgette and trimmed with cream Chantilly lace. Above the lace on the skirts were garlands of blue flowers with rhinestone centers. Their garden hats were of shirred georgette in blue and coral and they carried bouquets of pink roses, delphinium, cornflowers, pink snapdragons and forget-me-nots.

The matron of honor, Mrs. C. W. Hare of Bloomington, Ind., who entered next, was stunningly gownned in orchid georgette, appliqued with Chantilly lace and beaded in crystal. Her Leghorn picture hat a crown of pink and orchid ribbon intertwined and was trimmed with a single rose, and gold ribbon. Her bouquet, like that of the bridesmaids, was in pastel shades.

The bride entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, was the very essence of all that a bride should be. Her gown was an exquisite creation of white georgette crepe and Chantilly lace with trimmings of crystal beads. Floating from a cap held in place by orange blossoms and a band of pearls and crystal beads, her filmy veil, enhanced her.

Brides roses and valley lilies

formed her shower bouquet. Her only jewels were the groom's gift, a bracelet of diamonds and sapphires, and the gift of his mother, a string of beautifully matched pearls. She was met at the altar by the groom and his attendant, William Baxter, of Knightstown, Ind. The impressive ring ceremony of the Baptist church was read by Dr. S. D. Huff.

After the ceremony the bride and groom, Mrs. Margaret Morton, mother of the groom, and Dr. and Mrs. Andrews received the congratulations of the guests.

Later the newlyweds left for a motor trip after which they will be at home at 225 West Second street, Rushville, Ind., for the summer months. For traveling Mrs. Morton wore an ensemble suit, the coat of which was "penny" brown bengaline and the dress gold and seal brown printed crepe. Her hat was brown taffeta embroidered in gold.

The bride, a graduate of the Peru high school, a student of Indiana University, a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and until recently a teacher in the schools of this city, is a young lady of many accomplishments and an enviable personality.

Mr. Morton, who is a graduate of DePauw University and a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, is in charge of the advertising department of the United Vacuum Appliance Corporation of Connersville, Ind. His pleasing manner has won for him many friends among the Peruvians who have met him during his visits here.

Ruth's friends regret the fact that her marriage will take her away from Peru, but they are united in their heartiest wishes that she and Mr. Morton may have a long life of happiness before them.

There was a large number of guests, including many from other Indiana cities. Guests from Rushville were Mrs. John Finer, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finer, Miss Helen Monjar and Miss Dorothy Frazee. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tingle of Connersville were also among the guests.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF STATE ATTORNEY SEEN

Italian Fires on Chicago Detective Who Resembles Robert E. Crowe
at City Hall

REVENGE FOR BOOZE WAR

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 17—A weird man hunt was on today in the catacombs of the loop for a bushy-haired, squat Italian who last evening invaded the combination city hall and county building in what was believed an attempt to assassinate State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe. The man fired a shot at Detective Eldridge Curran, who was on guard in Crowe's office.

Curran resembles Crowe and police believe the Italian planned to kill the state's attorney in revenge for the arrest of two gunmen and the present energetic drive against the Genna gang of bootleggers probably the most powerful in Chicago.

Curran fired one shot at his assailant who fled into a tunnel and was soon lost in the maze of underground tunnels that run under the loop and are used for the transfer of merchandise. Scores of patrolmen, armed with shotguns and revolvers, and lighting their way with pocket flashlights and small searchlights, hunted all night and pushed their hunt today.

ODD FELLOWS NOTICE

SOUTH BEND MAN IS ELECTED

Irwin C. Bauman New State Commander of Spanish War Veterans

Anderson, Ind., June 17—Irwin C. Bauman, of South Bend, today was the new commander of the United States American War Veterans.

He was elected late yesterday at the close of the annual state convention here.

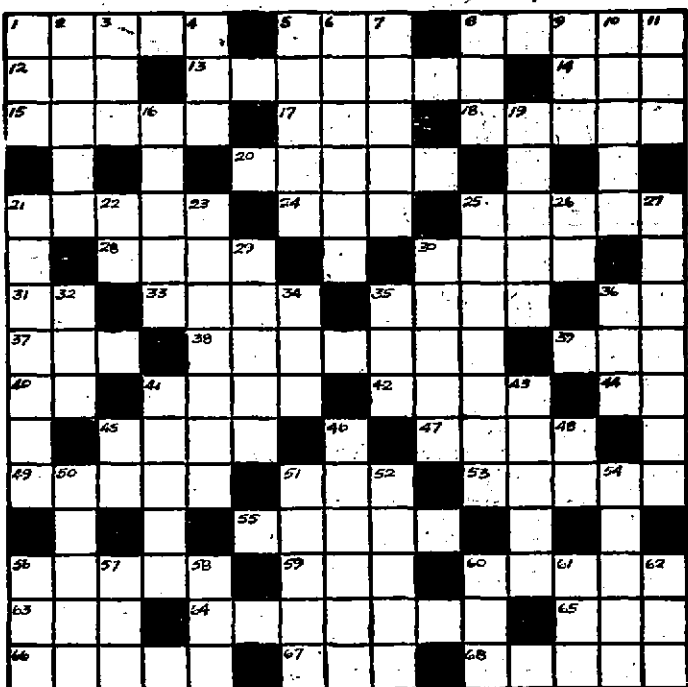

C. W. Beck, of Peru, was named senior vice commander and J. W. Matton, of Rockville, was elected junior vice commander.

Huntington was chosen for the 1926 convention.

Resolutions were adopted urging congress to accord appropriate honors to Maj. Gen. Omar Bundy, hero of Belleau Woods, who retired from the army yesterday without receiving any decoration from the United States government.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Rushville, Indiana, will until the hour of 7:00 p. m. JULY 7th, 1925, at its office in the City Building in Rushville, Indiana, receive sealed proposals for the erection and installation of one steam driven generating unit, direct driven, of a capacity of 700 to 800 H. P. together with all other necessary equipments.

No drawing or other specifications will be on file. Bidders are required to visit the plant with their own engineers and go over the present equipment and then submit the best up-to-date plan to complete this installation.

Proposals must be accompanied with plans and specifications, blue prints, drawings, etc., of the proposed layout, delivered, erected and operated for a period of 20 days, and subject to the approval of said Mayor and Common Council or their legally appointed superintendent or engineer.

All bids must be accompanied with a certified check in an amount equal to 3 per cent of the total cost as enumerated in the bidder's proposal. Also non-collusion affidavits must accompany the proposals.

Alternate proposals will at the same hours be received on an Oil Running Engine. Above conditions to apply the same as in steam driven units.

At the same time proposals will be received on a water softening system, twice the capacity of the present boiler capacity.

Each bidder will be expected to go over the present layout and give in detail all points and statistical data covered by their proposal.

The Common Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids received and if not awarded on date opened, checks will be returned within a reasonable time to unsuccessful bidder.

RAIL WRECK DEATH LIST IS MOUNTING

Forty-Three are Dead and More are Likely to Die From Injuries in Derailment Accident

54 OTHERS IN HOSPITALS

Deadly Steam That Came Hissing Like a Geyser from Engine Pipes Cause Most Casualties

(By United Press)

Hackettstown, N. J., June 17—“The German Excursion” wreck of the Lackawanna railroad near here today had claimed a toll that marks it as one of the worst railroad disasters in years.

Recheck at the hospitals early today placed the dead at 43 men, women and children, with many more suffering terrible burns from which they may die.

A cauldron of steam which engulfed over 100 passengers when the Lackawanna excursion train plunged into a sand-clogged switch near here early yesterday, buckling up day coaches and Pullmans, brought the fatality rate to its gruesome figure. Most of the deaths resulted from steam burns which left the victims helpless and in agony.

Though only seven bodies were found in the wreckage after the accident occurred, the death toll mounted rapidly throughout the day and last night as victims succumbed to burns and injuries in five New Jersey and Pennsylvania hospitals.

Many of those still in hospitals are reported on the verge of death today and it is believed the final toll may draw close to fifty.

Mrs. Caroline Monck, Mrs. Lillian Laforge and Michael Dettner, all of Chicago, died at hospitals during the early morning.

The accident, which occurred on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, was due to a sand-clogged switch resulting from the severe storm, according to the company's official report.

Deadly steam that came hissing like a geyser from the broken pipes of the engine was responsible for three quarters of the fatalities.

Investigations of the accident have been started by the public utilities board, the interstate commerce commission, coroners, county detectives and the railroad.

One fact already disclosed by the inquiries is that a coal train was wrecked recently at the same spot because of sand and gravel clogging the tracks.

Joseph Snyder, who lives near the scene of the tragedy, was the first to reach the smouldering mass of wreckage.

In describing the scene, Snyder said:

“It was like nothing I ever thought I'd see. There were men and women and kids all around everywhere, screaming worse than I ever heard. There was one fat woman who wasn't hurt a bit who was caught by the leg in a window and was hanging head down. We got her out.

“It was 15 minutes before the others came with the lanterns and we couldn't see anything. All we could do was to go toward the screams and they came from everywhere. There was one big fellow, the biggest of the lot. He wanted me to shoot him. I'll pay you to shoot me, he says, but, of course, I couldn't even if I would. I had no gun.”

A hero of the wreck was Barney Judge of Seranton, Pa., flagman of the ill-fated train and sole survivor of the crew. Though only semi-conscious, he extricated himself from the wreckage, seized his red lantern, flares and torpedoes and crawled back to protect what was left of the train from a rear end collision.

After placing flares and torpedoes Judge reached a telephone and notified a train dispatcher of the tragedy. Then he returned to the scene and remained on duty until relieved.

A tale of miraculous escape was told by Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer, elderly residents of Holy Cross, Iowa. Though riding in one of the forward cars they escaped with minor bruises when their coach plunged over the roadbed and was demolished.

“My husband and I were in the fourth car,” said Mrs. Anna Jollie of Chicago. “I was hurled from my berth in a shower of glass. I got out of the car, some way, and in the half light I heard voices calling ‘What happened?’ ‘Are you hurt?’ ‘Where are we?’

“A poor woman ran distractedly toward me. Her hand, held high, was nearly severed above the wrist. ‘Get scissors, and take this off,’ she gasped. I tore my skirt and with a piece of wood from the wreckage, made a tourniquet, stanching the flow of blood and led her to a country doctor, who was doing yeoman service.

“I heard a child groan and with other women, went to dig her out. Then we found another woman and with the aid of farmer boys managed to dig her out with our bare hands and took her where the doctor could get to her. My memory got fuzzy then and I don't remember much more.”

Tipton—Two young men at Tipton were marched to jail at the point of guns by citizens who suspected them of “peeping.”

How Cold is Your Refrigerator?

A difference of five degrees in a refrigerator is just the difference between having foods crisp and cold and having them damp and cool. It may also be the difference between good health and sickness.

WHITE FROST REFRIGERATORS

Authorities maintain that bacteria thrive in food not kept below 30 degrees in temperature. Put a thermometer in your refrigerator and see what the temperature is!

The White Frost is completely enamelled inside, is clean and sanitary. Its double metal jackets with dead air space carefully sealed between and its ground cork insulation insure the keeping of foods at proper temperatures.

Let us show you this economical, efficient refrigerator. We have an interesting booklet for you, “What You Should Know About a Refrigerator.”

GEO. C. WYATT & CO.

After her wonderful dinner—she told them about KELVINATED Foods

Kelvinated foods are foods that have been kept for some time in the frosty, dry cold produced by Kelvinator electric refrigeration. In this dry cold they undergo a remarkable change.

Meats become mellow, tender and flavorful. Green vegetables “crisp up,” until they are deliciously fresh and inviting. All foods stay wholesome and appetizing. You can prepare dainty sherbets, ices and other desserts without using ice. Or you can freeze sparkling cubes of ice, just the right size for chilling beverages.

Kelvination is refrigeration that requires no attention. Day and night—month after month—it keeps the refrigerator very cold with none of the care demanded by ice.

We can put Kelvinator in the refrigerator you are now using. Phone or call for information.
